Posted on April 24, 2014 "A powerful and disturbing video showing beheaded corpses of suspected drug war victims are seen strapped to the hood of a vehicle near Gentry border crossing in McAllen, Texas. The video highlights how heightened enforcement efforts in the McAllen region are leading to widespread abuses, including drug war violence, in part due to pressure from the United States Department of Homeland Security, which initiated Operation Secure Line." The video shows beheaded corpses of suspected drug war victims strapped to the hood of a vehicle near Gentry border crossing in McAllen, Texas. Drug War violence is a human rights violation, but the U.S. is not legally obligated to prevent and investigate the crimes.

"This is a very disturbing video. The government of Guatemala has a responsibility to ensure that police or other officials do not conduct or allow human rights abuses like this to occur. This is not acceptable" said Gregory Copley, Attorney with Human Rights First. "It is important that the U.S. government clarify its operational protocols in support of human rights, including those governing the use of military force. The fact that the U.S. funds this operation and is a party to it runs counter to its intention to exercise oversight, accountability, and human rights protections." "However, this video shows that the U.S. is not legally required to prevent and investigate the crimes committed by other government agents. The U.S. should clarify its position on this." "We are aware of this video. It reveals a troubling mix of inefficiency, illegality and incompetence. We encourage the U.S. to support the U.N. and UNDOC on the question of whether members of the United States armed forces engaged in serious human rights violations in the McAllen area." U.S. spokesperson at U.N. Office of Human Rights "As the U.N. representative of a member state that signed the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights, we oppose such killings and the ensuing abuses of human rights. We are b7e8fdf5c8

The problem with the web-based music apps is that they are always fighting an uphill battle with having to keep up with the ever-growing demand of apps. This is why so many have decided to just build their own player. Such is the case with Xpo Music. It makes use of the progressive web application (PWA) standard to offer a modern and sometimes better looking experience than the existing desktop client. Xpo Music Features: Xpo Music is a fantastic music app for the desktop. It offers the same features as the official Spotify client and more. Some of the features include: • Add playlists directly from your device. • Listen offline without data charges. • Choose your listening layout - web view, light or dark theme, or mini player. • Pull the media bar to the top for faster access. • Choose your desired playback mode. • Add songs to your queue and playlists. • Use media key to skip and previous track. • Add music to your Windows 10 Media Sync account. • Add your favorite tracks to your playlist. • Use Cortana to search for any song, artist, album or playlist. • Save songs directly to your Spotify account. • Control playback via taskbar buttons. • Download using Amazon or Google Play Store. • Customise interface with your own color themes. • Use Cortana to directly jump to any song. • Background playback with lock screen support. • Pin any webpage to the Start menu, quickly access it with a simple mouse click.

• Use the Xpo Music PWA to listen on any device, without Internet connection. Mix up a batch of your favorite pancakes or waffles, and warm them up in the microwave for a quick breakfast. Not only is this a healthy way to start your day, it's also quick and convenient—plus you can now stay in one spot while doing it. In addition to feeling good for your body, coming up with a healthy breakfast also provides you with the mental energy to start your day right. Now you can kickstart your busy day by waking up to your favorite breakfast! Each purchase of all-in-one microwave cookware includes a lifetime repair and replacement warranty. Enjoy worry-free cooking with our products—every product has a lifetime guaranteed! Compact design fits easily in any kitchen or dorm room Toast doughnuts, pancakes, and waffles while the griddle gets hot and your download and play 'Xpo Music' in Offline mode. Enjoy unlimited music without ads! Xpo Music offers a full music experience for both Spotify Premium and Spotify free users. The streaming app allows you to enjoy music offline without ads, save songs to listen to when offline, browse music on a personalized radio, and much more. A music app should offer these features as standard, so it's great that Xpo Music brings these enhanced functionality to every single one of its users. Stream music through the Spotify desktop app Xpo Music offers a more streamlined music experience than the official Spotify desktop app. What's more, the free version has the ability to save songs and playlists offline, while the premium app can be used offline as well. Both are great enhancements that make your music listening experience more enjoyable. Real HD-quality music Xpo Music doesn't offer the same quality of music that the original Spotify app does, but the web player supports high-resolution audio and allows you to listen to music in its full HD glory. The web player can't save songs offline The free Spotify app has a lot of great features, but its main issue is that you can't save songs on your device. The free version of the web player can save songs offline, but the option is hidden away in the settings. If you want to take advantage of the power of the music streaming service, you'll need to fork out for the premium version of the Xpo Music app. Browse music on a personalized radio A strong feature of the Xpo Music app is the ability to listen to music through a personalized radio. This feature is only available to Spotify Premium users, but the free version is still quite a strong feature for fans of Spotify music streaming. Download Xpo Music The Music Player is a free
